

DISCOUNTS FOR WOMEN WITH A FLARE FOR FASHION

In this common-sense guide on how to plan for your big night, Jeanne Beker writes wisely and sensitively about all kinds of situations: What if you're on a tight budget? What if you don't look like a model? What if your friend tries to copy your style? This book's practical and creative advice, along with Nathalie Dion's playful illustrations, will solve any fashion quandry and help make your "big night out" a treasured memory.

Jeanne Beker is a pioneer of music television. She is best known today as the star and segment producer of the internationally syndicated "FT-Fashion Television" and host of Fashion Television Channel. Jeanne Beker is the editor-in-chief of FQ Magazine, writes a weekly style advice column in the Globe and Mail and a monthly style column in Inside Entertainment magazine. She has won several awards recognizing her ongoing community involvement and her influence in the fashion industry.

Nathalie Dion, born and raised in Montréal, studied Design Art at Concordia University and has been an illustrator since 1996. Her whimsical illustrations reflect her passion for creating images that reflect the lighter side of life. Working mainly with watercolours, she also uses ink, gouache, and Photoshop. Her art has appeared in several books and magazines, including Flare and the Los Angeles Times magazine.

For 50 – 99 copies:	30% discount
For 100 – 199 copies:	35% discount
For 200 copies or more:	40% discount

Publication Date: March 8, 2005

80 pages | CDN $22.99 | nonfiction | trade paper | 0887767192 | ages 10+

Shipping charges and the GST (in Canada) are additional. Books are sold non-returnable. To order or to obtain a review copy, please contact Catherine Mitchell, Special Sales, telephone 800-788-1074, ext. 224, email cmitchell@mcclelland.com or fax (416) 598-0247.

Tundra Books  www.tundrabooks.com